EDWIN FRESHFIELD,

Vice-President of the Society of Antiquaries, and one of the Churchwardens of the Parish.

VOL. I.

1882.

I N T R O D U C T I O N .

I HAIL with satisfaction the opportunity of being able to say that I have finished anything. As I have now completed the first of the two Volumes in which the Registers of the Parish of St. Christopher le Stocks are contained, I propose to deal with it at once.

The present Book contains the first Volume of the Registers, commencing with 1558 and ending with the year 1654. The other Volume will, I hope, shortly follow.

The Registers of St. Christopher le Stocks are contained in two Volumes; one, the older, being what is called a "long quarto," and the other Volume a "folio." Both Books are of parchment, and both have been, with a view to their preservation, recently rebound.

The entries in the Volume with which we are now dealing commence in the first year of Queen Elizabeth, namely, the year 1558. In some of the Parishes in the City, notably in the Parish of St. Stephen, Coleman Street, there are Registers older than this, but these are written on paper. If, therefore, there were any Registers in this Parish anterior to the first year of Queen Elizabeth, they also, no doubt, were written on paper and perished.

The present Registers are transcripts from some older Record, kept probably from week to week, written on paper.

This present Book, though commencing in the year 1558, is not older than 1597. From the commencement to the year 1611 all the entries are in the same handwriting. The writing seems to be that of a clerk.

These earlier entries were examined by Mr. Arnold, the Rector, who was appointed in 1597, and who died in the year 1613, aided in some instances by the Churchwardens.

For the next four succeeding years, namely, to the month of June, 1615, the entries are in the handwriting of Mr. Richard Ball, who was the Rector during the period, and whose name is incorrectly given by Newcourt as Bull.

From the 8th of July, in the year 1615, for about a year, the entries of Christenings and Marriages are in the handwriting of Dr. Piers, the Rector succeeding Mr. Ball. No part of the Burial Register, except only the inscription, is in Dr. Piers' handwriting.

From this date to the year 1618 all the entries are in the handwriting of the same person, and I think a clerk.

From 1619 to 1621 the entries are in a different handwriting, which I have not been able to identify with certainty, but I believe it to be that of Dr. Piers.

From 1622 to 1631 the Registers are written in the handwriting apparently of the same clerk.

In October, 1630, Dr. Piers was consecrated Bishop of Peterborough.

From 1631 to 1636 the entries appear to be in the handwriting of Mr. Macarnesse, the Rector; and from that date to the end of the Book they are in the handwriting of one or more clerks.

The spelling is extremely various, and there are indications that the entries where made by a clerk were written by a copyist. This is notably the case of the entry of the burial of Mr. Macarnesse. His signature, a remarkably bold one, appears frequently in the Registers, and there could therefore be no doubt as to this. In the original memorandum of his burial the name was apparently written phonetically, "Mackarnes." This was copied into the Register Book and altered by the scribe, so that it now appears as "Mackaries."

The Register will be of interest to the Antiquary and student of history for various reasons. He will be able to tell from it, approximately, the population of a central City parish during this period. He will also see the marked effect which a visitation of the Plague had upon the death and marriage rate. In fact, the Register contains almost by itself materials for a history; but when, as in the case of St. Christopher, this can be supplemented by the Churchwardens' accounts and the Vestry Minute Books for the same period, the history becomes more complete. I say no more upon the subject here, because I hope to publish all these later on with a general introduction.

With regard to particular entries also I do not propose to say much here. The frequency of "foundling" children will be observed, and also the manner in which the name "Christopher" was perpetuated in them.

There are three names that I do not like to pass over altogether:—

In the year 1621 an entry will be seen of the death of Mr. Thomas Hariots, a sojourner at Mr. Buckner's house. This Mr. Hariots was a friend of Sir Walter Raleigh, and was interested with him in promoting emigration to Virginia.

In the year 1642 there are the entries of the deaths of two gentlemen who are described as "Scotch Commissioners." With regard to one of them, Mr. Patrick Bell, his name is well known, and appears in the documents of the period. He was buried at the expense of the parish, which was then, as I believe, intended as a compliment.

The second, "Eliezar Burthicke," although described as a Scotch Commissioner, must have been in a different position to Mr. Patrick Bell, for I have not met with his name among the list of those sent from Scotland. Possibly he may have occupied some less important position, and this is borne out by the fact that he did not in his burial receive a like honour to that conferred upon Mr. Bell.

The Volume is only half full, stopping short in the year 1653; and I think the reason of this is that it became necessary to open a new Book, for the change that had taken place with regard to the Marriage Law. The last entry under the head of Marriages of a marriage published at Cheapside Market marks the advent of a new era; and the new Book, as will be seen hereafter, commences with an appointment of a Registrar to carry out the new Act of Parliament.

For the present I defer a longer account of these Books, reserving this for the general account of the Parish Books which I hope will some day follow.

INTRODUCTION.

THE present Volume concludes the Registers of St. Christopher le Stocks. The last entry is dated 1780, and this date marks the finish both of the Book and the Church.

In the year 1780—1781 the Church of St. Christopher was destroyed to make way for the improvements in Princes Street, Threadneedle Street and the Bank of England. It was the first Church in the City after the Great Fire of London that was destroyed, and I wish I could say it was the last; but this can hardly be done in a year in which a Bill has been introduced into the House of Lords by the Bishop of London which contains a provision for the contingency of the destruction of the Church of St. Andrew-under-Shaft, one of the most interesting buildings remaining to us of a date anterior to the Fire.

The Register Book now printed commences with entries relating to the Marriage Law passed during the Protectorate of Oliver Cromwell, and some which bear the original signatures of the Aldermen are interesting.

The greater portion of this Book is written in the handwriting of various Clerks. There are a few entries which I believe to be in the handwriting of Dr. Ralph Harison, made during the Great Plague, and a few by Dr. Hall, his successor.

I have determined to show what I mean by saying that our Parish Books when printed will be of general interest.

I have selected for an example the period of the Great Plague, for this reason:—This house, in which I was born, stands in the middle of the scenes depicted in De Foe's history of it, and when I was a child the book was one of my best friends. By the time I went to school, being then aged eight years, I was as well acquainted with the scenes of the various occurrences in it as, allowing for altered circumstances, De Foe himself; and I remember as a child—and in my young days children used to go to bed at eight o'clock)—cowering over the fire in the nursery, listening to the Curfew ringing from St. Botolph-without-Bishopsgate and St. Botolph-without-Aldgate. I knew the tones of the bells quite well, and could tell each by its ring. I knew that the former was ringing over "Alderman's Walk," where the ghost was seen, and that the latter was just over the site of the great yawning chasm into which so many bodies were shot from the dead-cart. As the bells rung out I felt the swellings coming in my arms and legs, until I was driven to bed ignominiously by the nursery-maid. Forty years later I still find myself poring over the same topic, but I do not hear the Curfew now.

To illustrate my subject I have extracted from the Vestry Minute Book five entries relating to the year 1665, and as something turns upon the handwriting I have thought it well to have these five entries photographed.

Each one of them is signed by the inhabitants attending the Vestry. The first entry relates to the appointment of Parish Officers for the year, and is signed by the Rector, Dr. Ralph Harison; Mr. Alderman Henry Baynbrigg, who lived in the great house near the Church; and by the principal inhabitants; and among others, by one William Horsey, the Parish Constable. William Horsey had been for a considerable time a Parishioner in the Parish, and it had fallen to his turn to be Constable for the year. This entry is dated the 27th day of March, and was before any appearance of the Plague in the Parish. A copy of it is as follows:—

"Att a Vestry holden the 27th of March 1665: were chosen for the yeare ensuing Mr Thomas Pratt senior Churchwarden & Mr Robert Watkins junior Churchwarden, Mr John Elliott and Mr Robert Briquett

The second Minute is dated the 28th July, and announces in an unmistakable manner the approach of the infection. A Copy of it is as follows:—

“Att a Vestry holden the xxviiijth day of July 1665: it was agreed and ordered that forasmuch as it is now a tyme of Pestilence, and that there is a great concourse of people to this Church especially in the afternoones many of w^{ch} are knowne or believed to resort hither from places infected That therefore there shalbe a suspension of the afternoone Sermon during the tyme of this Contagion or untill further order, and that in the interim there shalbe only Divine Service or Comon Prayer here in the afternoones on the Lords dayes.

It will be seen that the Minute is not signed by Dr. Ralph Harison.

This was the last entry that Peter Bell signed.

There is a suspicious entry under date the 17th August of the burial of Abell Coares, Mr. Peter Bell's apprentice. The cause of death is given as consumption.

On the 1st September Margaret the wife of Peter Bell died of the Plague, and on the 10th Peter Bell followed her.

In the meantime it had broken out in the houses of Mr. Alderman Baynbrigg and his brother William; in the latter case introduced by an apprentice.

Mr. Edward Poultney's and Mr. Henry Sutton's houses were also visited; in each case the Plague was introduced by a servant.

The entries in the Churchwardens' Account Book are unfortunately undated, but those applicable to this period seem to be the following:—

At a Vestry holden the xxvijth day of July 1665: it was agreed and ordered that forasmuch as it is now a tyme of pestilence, and that there is a great resort of people to this Church especially in the afternoons, many of w^{ch} are known or belived to resort thither from places ~ the

The third Minute is dated the 23rd August, when the Plague was in the Parish. As in the case of the previous entries, it is signed by Dr. Harison and the principal inhabitants.

“ Att a Vestry holden the xxiiijth of August 1665: It was ordered and agreed that forasmuch as Thomas Drake the present Clerke of the Parish is intended to relinquish his said place; That therefore William Bate the present Sexton shall supply the place of Parish Clerke in the roome and stead of the said Thomas Drake during his good behavio^r

The next Minute is in a different handwriting to the three preceding. It is dated the 19th September, at which time the Plague was at its height. A copy of the Minute is as follows:—

“ At a Vestry holden September the 19th 1665 by virtue of an Order from The Lord Major Daniel Linger was chosen Cunstable (in the Roome & stead of Villam ~~Henry~~ Horsey who absented himselfe) for the residue of the yeare ensuing

There are one or two points worthy of consideration about this Minute.

In the first place a comparison of the handwritings in the Register Book show that up to this date the writing in the Register for some time past had been done by one person, probably a scrivener's clerk, and that at this date the handwriting ceased. We have therefore a curious coincidence that in the Registers and in the Minute Book there comes a certain sudden stopping of the writing.

The Minute of the 19th September and the entries in the Register Book are in the handwriting of Dr. Ralph Harison, who, no doubt owing to the death or absence of the two scribes (for they were different, who had written up respectively the Register and the Vestry Minute Book, was asked to and in fact did act as scribe.

Dr. Ralph Harison did not sign the Minute of the 19th September, but the writing in the body of it is undoubtedly his. Dr. Harison had made a mistake in writing Mr. Horsey's name as Henry instead of William. Somebody has struck out the word "Henry" and has put instead the word "Willam."

A comparison of handwritings shows conclusively that this alteration was made by Daniell Lingard (whose name is spelt "Linger" in the Minute), who was made to take William Horsey's place. Daniell Lingard has written the word so that it reads "Villain," and I think this is intentional. I can imagine that he was in a frightful rage when he wrote this, for he found himself put in a position of danger owing to the reluctance of William Horsey to carry out his duties.

Mr. Alderman Baynbrigg attended this Meeting. I suppose he considered that the 14 days which had elapsed since his apprentice's death made him free, but I think he was wrong.

Daniell Lingard's term of office was not of long duration, for there is a further Minute upon the same subject upon the next day, the 20th September. A copy of this Minute is also subjoined, and also a facsimile, and to the latter I would direct careful attention.

"At a Vestry holden the 20th of September 1665 that forasmuch as Daniell Langer was chosen in the Paroome and stead of William Horsey who absented himself (by virtue of an Order from the Lord Maior) and the said Daniell Langer being not capable of the said place It was Ordered that Joseph Francklin should hold Constable in the Roome & stead of the sd Daniell Langer for the residue of the yeare ensuing and should bee discharged from serving of Constable at any time hereafter in this Precinct of St Christopher

This Minute is again in a different handwriting, and it is not difficult to trace who was the scribe; it is manifestly Robert Mickell, a Scrivener, as may be seen by his rubric, and who signs this and several of the preceding Minutes. I am afraid Robert Mickell caught the Plague here, for five days afterwards namely, on the 25th of September, there is an entry of his burial. I dare say he caught it of Mr. Alderman Baynbrigg.

In the meantime Henry Sutton and his son had both died of the disease, and it had also broken out in another house in the Parish in which Samuel Browne and his wife both died.

The entries in the Register Book from the 1st to 9th October are in the handwriting of Dr. Ralph Harison. In this interval Mr. Alderman Baynbrigg died, another of Henry Sutton's family, and the son of Daniell Lingard. The last entry made by Dr. Ralph Harison is of the burial of "Joseph son of Martha Williams"; he was buried on the 9th October.

Five days afterwards, namely, October 14th, there is the entry of Dr. Harison's own death and burial.

Daniell Lingard died a few days later.

The last burial from the Plague was on the 23rd December. The total number of persons buried in the year from all causes is 48, of which 36 are clearly attributable to the Plague.

A Copy taken the 20th of September 1662 that forasmuch as Daniel Langer was chosen in the Room and Head of William Horsely who abandoned himself by virtue of an Order from the Lord
Kaiser in the said Daniel Langer being not capable of the said

The Register Books for the preceding years give the following particulars:—

Year.										No. of Deaths.
1664	15
1663	22
1662	14
1661	24
1660	18

This statement would lead to the inference that the number of inhabitants in the Parish was about 600.

The following entry in the Account Book relates to the subject of the cost of the Plague to the Parishioners:—

“Laid out for visited houses in y^e Parish 04 ,, 05 ,, 04”

When the balance of the Account of Parish Moneys was made at the end of the year, the Auditors made the following entry:—

“It was thought fitte by y^e persons underwritten that Mr. Pratt deduct five pounds out of y^e 29 ,, 11 ,, 07 wherewith to pay Mr Watkins for his extraordinary charges in y^e tyme of Contagion.”

It is satisfactory to see that Mr Horsey had to pay a fine of 02 ,, 00 ,, 00 for absenting himself.

It is also instructive to read the following entry:—

“Rec^d of M^r Drake and M^r Bates for severall Burials as \mathfrak{p} Register ... 18 ,, 19 ,, 10.”

These you will remember were the Parish Clerks during the period.

The amount received for burials in 1664 I see is entered as 06 ,, 03 ,, 10

I have thought it would be interesting to take from the Vestry Minutes a List of the Inhabitants mentioned in them. These I have arranged in a Table, and opposite to them I have noted those who either themselves died of the Plague, or whose houses were visited by it:—

In the returns given for the bills of mortality I find the deaths from Plague given as rather more numerous than are recorded in the Register Book. This may possibly have arisen from the fact that the names of some who were carried out of the Parish and buried in one of the Plague graves did not find their way into the Register at all. It is well known that this happened in some of the larger parishes, notably Aldgate, where the number of deaths overpowered the Parish Officers.

To one acquainted with De Foe's History there is abundant matter for reflection in the extracts above given. The history contained in them bears out the suggestion of the manner in which the Plague was introduced into houses by servants and apprentices. It illustrates the vain attempts to stop the Plague by the burning of fires; it illustrates the extreme suddenness of the death, and also the reluctance of some Parish Officers to discharge their duties. It also I think I may safely say illustrates the pertinacity with which the Parishioners discharged their duties, and the devotedness of the Clergymen.

In connection with this latter observation there is the following entry in the Account Book:—

“ Paid p order to the Relict of our late beloved Pastor Doctor Ralph Harrison dec ^d	}	20 ,, 00 ,, 00 ”

There are also some entries relating to the contributions made by the Parishioners to other Parishes which were visited during the year, of which I give an example:—

. . . . But at this minute my wife came in and said:—“ But, my dear Edwin, are you still poring over that horrid book in which your friend Mr. Mickell wrote four days before he died of the Plague? Take it out of the house at once, or you will bring the Plague into it.”

Mrs. Edwin Freshfield was born in Smyrna, and knows what the Plague means. So we must put off the example until the Books are printed.

Mrs. Edwin Freshfield is quite right in one thing. These old Parishioners are at least as much my friends as those whom I now meet walking in the Parish, and I think I know their habits even better.

The Register Book closes not inappropriately with the entry of the burial of a daughter of Sir John Houblon, the first Governor of the Bank of England.
